INTRODUCTION

Ozone depletion is the reduction in ozone level or deterioration of the ozone layer, which is present in the lower stratosphere between 0 and 30 km (12 and 19 miles) above the planet. The ozone layer is crucial for the health of humans and other living things because it shields them from the sun's harmful UV rays. A major environmental issue is ozone depletion because it increases the amount of ultraviolet (UV) radiation that permeates the earth's surface and increases the risk of skin cancer, cataracts, genetic abnormalities, and immune system impairment.

The natural equilibrium between the formation and destruction of stratospheric ozone is skewed in favor of destruction, which causes Ozone depletion to occur. Ozone depletion is mostly caused by chlorine and bromine that are released from manufactured compounds like CFCs, despite the fact that short-term ozone loss can also be caused by natural events. Other ozone-depleting chemicals include nitric oxide, chlorine radicals, and bromine radicals, as well as the halocarbon propellants and solvents carbon tetrachloride and trichloethane.

As a solution, 24 countries negotiated and signed the Montreal Protocol on Substances that Deplete the Ozone Layer in 1987. The Protocol required the parties to gradually reduce their usage of CFCs and other substances that deplete the ozone layer, such as halones and other synthetic halocarbons. On January 23, 1995, the United Nations General Assembly passed Resolution 49/114, declaring September 16 as World Ozone Day to honor the signing of the Montreal Protocol on Substances that Deplete the Ozone Layer in 1987. India is a signatory to both the Montreal Protocol and the Vienna Convention for the Protection of the Ozone Layer. A phase-out programme for Ozone Depleting Substances (ODSs) has been effectively implemented in the nation. The use of Hydrochlorofluorocarbons as refrigerants in the air conditioning sector in India is currently being phased out in accordance with the Ozone Depleting Substances (Regulation and Control) Rules, 2000 notification issued 19.07.2000. Based on the Montreal Protocol's accelerated phase-out schedule, which has already met its 2015 and 2020 phase-out targets, the production and consumption of Hydrochlorofluorocarbons (HCFC) will be completely phased out in 2030. As per the Kigali Amendment, the production and consumption of HFCs will be completely phased down in four steps starting in 2032, with reductions of 10% in 2032, 20% in 2037, 30% in 2042, and 85% in 2047.

MoEF vide letter dated 22.08.2022 requested all State Pollution Control Board to celebrate Ozone day as a mark of the 37th anniversary of the Vienna Convention and 35th anniversary of the Montreal Protocol for the protection of Ozone Layer under the theme of "Montreal Protocol @ 35: Global Cooperation Protecting Life on Earth".

Tamil Nadu Pollution Control Board this year celebrated the World Ozone Day during 12th – 16th September organized a number of events through Industries, Colleges and schools students from all over districts of Tamil Nadu. Programmes which featured cycle rally, human Chain, drawing competitions and taking pledge.
